"TIGER TOWN" REACHED EASILY NOVEMBER 12

Homecoming May Have To Be Reminded of Exact Route If He Travels by Auto.

All roads lead to Columbia on Saturday, November 12, for that is Homecoming Day for the University of Missouri. The Oklahoma University football warriors, last year's champions of the Valley, will furnish thrills for the old grads when they tangle with the Missouri Tigers. The historic and beloved Columns, the verdant campus, the throngs of happy students will once more fill the homecoming with the invigorating sensations of "those dear old college days."

But the homecoming, if he travels by auto, may have to be reminded of the exact route to take back to "Tiger Town."

Those living in the region of Kansas City will find difficulty. The National Old Trails Road runs all the way from Kansas City to Columbia. The following towns will be passed through: Independence, Lexington, Marshall, Booneville, Franklin and Rocheport. The trail is marked.

Those living in the vicinity of St. Joseph should take the Sulphur Springs Route through Plattsburg, Clinton County, to Lexington and then transfer on to the National Old Trails Road and follow it straight east into Columbia. From the region of Trenton to Chillicothe, take the Cannon Ball Route straight south past Carrollton, cross the river and strike the National Old Trails Road at Waverly. Then proceed eastward to Columbia.

From the region of St. Louis and St. Charles take the National Old Trails Road through St. Peters, Wright City, New Florence to Mineola and Fulton and into Columbia. The trail is marked and runs all the way.

From the region of Springfield take the Osage Valley Highway to Clinton, transfer on to the Clinton to Sedalia Highway, then take the Sedalia to Booneville road and from Booneville follow the National Old Trails Road into Columbia. All of these roads are marked.
